A FEW NOTES ON THE COINS IN THIS SALE

Early Numismatists were not particularly "Condition-Happy" about the grading of their coins, as are most collectors today. Consequently, they have preserved for us who came later, many coins which today might not be too collectible--except that in many cases they are quite rare. But they did appreciate beauty in their coins and devised many methods to improve their looks.

One process often used was called "German-Proofing" which was accomplished by gently scraping the fields of a coin to remove scratches and roughness in the planchet (a common occurrence in those early days when metallurgy was not as advanced as today). The tool used was similar to the pick most dentists use now. The result was a shiny coin covered with the most minute scratches, bright and fresh-looking unless put under a high-powered glass. Skillfully done, the coin was greatly enhanced in appearance and harmed somewhat in value to the later day collector. Some early "numismatists" even scratched their initials into the fields to provide instant identification in case of theft.

Many were also looped so they could be worn as amulets, as the themes of many of these early coins were religious in nature. All of these conditions have been noted in the text where applicable.

Grading for this sale has been done on United States standards, and European graders may not necessarily agree. Please be careful when bidding.

Should any dispute arise between bidders, the decision of the auctioneer as to the successful bidder and the re-offering or resale of the lot under dispute shall rest entirely on the judgment of the auctioneer. When an opinion is not expected within this four week period, the buyer will (a) submit the lot without delay to ANACS and (b) insure that advice, in writing, be received by the auctioneer within 25 days of the auction. Expenses incurred shall be borne by the purchaser, except where the lot is other than as described, when the auctioneer shall accept responsibility as follows: (a) the actual cost of the certificate is $15.00 or less; or (b) the cost of the certificate up to 5% of the sale price, with a maximum of $50.00.
